

Nicole Moan

Environmentally conscious artist, repurposing materials and powering her studio with solar energy. Active, exhibiting artist as well as board and committee work, as well as teaching art to inner city kids. She seeks to show the world, through art, how we are all connected and have a unique beauty.

20+ years experience creating art, including wearable ceramic corsets, 3 dimensional wall sculptures incorporating mixed media, innovative up-cycled display and applications. Specialist in wearable art in the form of ceramics and fabric. Used education in mechanics and welding to generate a unique creation process for both her art and in the mentoring of young artists and contemporaries.
